

TRẦN CÔNG HẬU, BÁC SĨ CHĂN BÒ

Thanks to a scholarship from ICAN, Tran Cong Hau, a spirited youth in Vietnam, is flying high with his dream, finishing up his first year at Saigon University Medical School.

Hau came from a very poor family in Quang Nam. Both of his parents suffer from severe health issues. Hau has to work in the fields, herding cattle to earn extra money. But he was determined to study, and for 12 consecutive years, won top ranks in the classroom. He also won top prize in Physics in 9th grade, #2 Best student in Biology at the provincial level, and #3 Best student in Biology at the national level. He got admitted to Saigon University Medical School - a stunning achievement given such a competitive race and his humble background.

Hau wants to become a doctor to treat his parents, and to help his younger brother and other children in the area pursue their dreams.

We are grateful for Dr. Thuy-Mai Nguyen for her generous commitment to sponsor Hau $1200/year for his entire 6-year study in medical school.